

10. The nomination of [REDACTED] was considered. He had made a donation of [REDACTED]. He had also made donations of [REDACTED]. As with [REDACTED], this fact should be brought to the Prime Minister's attention in his role as Party Leader. On the matter of the [REDACTED], the Commission noted that the legality of the issue was not a matter for it to decide and that the [REDACTED] was taking no action against [REDACTED]. However, the Commission was concerned about the effect of the [REDACTED] reputation and standing in the community. It was agreed that the public perception of [REDACTED] involvement in the [REDACTED] was such that his appointment would, in the Commission's judgement, have a negative effect on his credibility as member of the House of Lords and on the reputation of the House of Lords itself. The Commission could not advise the Prime Minister to appoint [REDACTED].
11. [REDACTED] nomination was also considered. [REDACTED] had donated [REDACTED]. The Commission noted the number of [REDACTED] involvement, as [REDACTED] and his unsuitability for a peerage. The Commission had also received a letter from [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] It was agreed that it would not be appropriate for the Commission to take into account the [REDACTED] in its consideration of [REDACTED] nomination. The Commission agreed, however, that it was relevant to consider [REDACTED] reputation and standing in the community when considering his nomination. The public perception of the controversy over the [REDACTED], and [REDACTED] role in it, was such that it had damaged [REDACTED] reputation. The Commission concluded that, if appointed, the controversy would have a negative effect on his credibility as a member of the House of Lords and on the reputation of the House itself. It was agreed that the Commission could not advise the Prime Minister to appoint [REDACTED].
12. The Commission considered [REDACTED] nomination. He had donated [REDACTED]. The Commission had received a letter from [REDACTED] but that it was [REDACTED] and that the [REDACTED]. The Commission had consulted [REDACTED] on the content of this letter, who confirmed their original position and said that other issues remained that were not covered in the letter. The Commission therefore agreed that it could not support [REDACTED] nomination at present but, based on the [REDACTED], it could be looked at again in six to twelve months.
13. The Commission considered [REDACTED] nomination. It recalled that it had decided that his role in the [REDACTED] should not stand in
